Orange County Library System cancels classes, events and programs

Library cancels events through March to help prevent the spread of COVID-19

(March 12, 2020 – Orlando, FL) – The administration of the Orange County Library System has announced that, to protect the health of our staff and customers, all library-sponsored events and programs scheduled from March 14 through March 31 will be cancelled.

The cancellation includes camps, classes, events, programs, staff-assisted studio sessions, tours, library pop-ups and outreach events. Online classes will continue to be offered.

Early voting at library branches will continue as scheduled, and Census 2020 is still scheduled to set up tables at our locations as planned. Meeting room bookings will be honored, but customers who wish to cancel a meeting due to concerns about the virus can have their meeting room fees refunded by calling 407-835-7323. Passport appointments will continue to be accepted.

Libraries will remain open for normal hours to provide essential library services to customers. The Orange County Library System has a wide variety of digital offerings for library cardholders, including ebooks and audiobooks, live online classes, streaming TV and movies, music downloads, databases, digital magazines and more. Visit our website at ocls.info for more information on how to access these services, or to sign up for a library card online.

The library's administration is taking the spread of COVID-19 very seriously and will continue to monitor the situation as it develops. If additional cancellations or closures are necessary, we will announce them on our social media accounts and at ocls.info.
